Discovering Hong Kong — The Oriental Pearl

Hong Kong, a Special Administrative Region of PRC, has grown from a small fishing village into the world's fourth largest banking and financial center and eighth largest trading economy. Situated in the southeast corner of China, Hong Kong occupies an area of 1,104 square kilometers (about 426 square miles) and is home to more than 6,970,000 people.

It would be hard to find a more exciting city than Hong Kong. Set among beautiful natural surroundings it has all the benefits of a thriving and vibrant commercial center. Here you can find the delights of modern living alongside an abundance of reminders of its historic past. Whether you visit the better known highlights like the stunning Ocean Park, the fantastic viewpoint of Victoria Peak or the beautiful Repulse Bay, Hong Kong is certain to exceed your expectations.

An open city with a wonderful natural harbor, Hong Kong is the meeting place of various cultures that blend harmoniously with Chinese traditions and exotic influences. On one hand traces of British culture can be found everywhere as a result of former colonial rule. On the other hand, Hong Kong preserves traditional customs and the core values of Confucianism that have faded in Mainland China. This is reflected in its colorful festivals ranging from Spring Festival to Christmas, especially the celebration of Chinese New Year, which is considered by Hong Kong people as a unique fusion of ancient customs and modern fun in the world's biggest Chinese New Year Celebration. During the period of celebrations, there are lots of activities in progress. Your tour will include visiting the flower market on Chinese New Year's Eve, looking for an auspicious bloom or plant for the New Year. Watching a colorful parade on Chinese New Year's Day, (Jan 26, 2009) held in Tsim Sha Tsui on the Kowloon peninsula with a cavalcade of colorful floats, accompanied by dragon dancers and performers from all over the world.

Hong Kong at Expo 2010

The World Exposition 2010 Shanghai China (Shanghai Expo) will be held in Shanghai from May 1 to October 31, 2010. Hong Kong will take this excellent opportunity at Expo 2010 to promote the city as a modern, vibrant and interconnected metropolis with high quality city life built on creativity and innovation. Hong Kong will build a stand-alone Pavilion, close to the China Pavilion in the centre of the Expo site, under the theme "Hong Kong — A City with Unlimited Potential". The Hong Kong Pavilion will have three levels with a sleek contemporary look to showcase Hong Kong's global connectivity, the "infinite" imagination and creativity of Hong Kong people, quality city life and rich natural heritage.

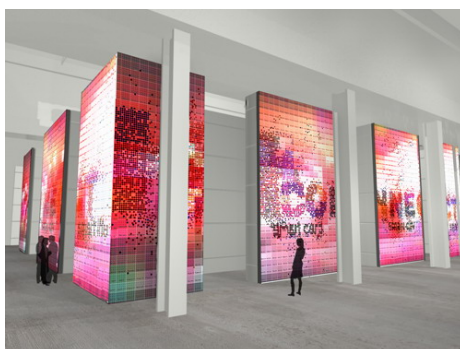

Hong Kong will participate in the first Urban Best Practices Area (UBPA) Exhibition at Expo 2010, which will highlight global best practices in sustainable city life. Under the theme "Smart Card, Smart City, Smart Life", Hong Kong's exhibition will showcase our innovative approach to improving the efficiency and quality of daily life through the extensive use of smart card technology. The potential of smart card technology through innovation and forward-looking design will also be highlighted in a highly interactive and engaging way.
